

Understanding Your Residential Energy Bill

Why do most residents choose MBCP?

MBCP SUPPORTS CLEAN ENERGY AT A LOWER COST

- o $4.4 Million in total customer savings in 2018*
- o $12.4 Million in total customer savings in 2019*
- o $19 Million in estimated total customer savings in 2020*

MBCP DELIVERS ECONOMIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL BENEFITS TO YOUR COMMUNITY

- o Cost savings help offset rising utility costs
- o Energy Programs tackle climate change and help reduce local greenhouse gas emissions through valuable incentives and rebates
- o Carbon-free or renewable service offerings help fast-track California's emissions goals

What can I expect after MBCP enrollment?

MBCP Electric Generation Charges replace PG&E Electric Generation Charges on your PG&E bill the month after enrollment. All eligible electricity customers receive mailed enrollment notifications 60 and 30 days prior to enrollment, as well as 30 and 60 days after their enrollment. As a residential customer, MBCP Energy Advisors are available to answer your questions or concerns regarding enrollment.

What changes will I experience on my bill?

Your new MBCP Electric Generation charge is not an extra charge. Prior to MBCP, PG&E charged for both electric generation (creating the power) and electric transmission and distribution (delivering the power) under one bundled charge. Now, as a shared MBCP/PG&E customer, these charges are unbundled; PG&E charges for transmission and distribution appear on one page, and MBCP generation charges are listed on a new page included on your PG&E billing statement.

You will not receive a separate bill from MBCP and you will continue paying PG&E for all electricity charges. Tiered, Time of Use and NEM account classes are matched by MBCP. CARE, FERA and Medical Baseline programs continue uninterrupted with MBCP, with no need to reapply.
